Reopening of Mines Monday Seems Certain

Spokesmen for Both Operators and Miners Assert That Agreement Reached by Negotiators Yesterday Will Be Ratified Today and That All Mines in 26 States Will Resume Work Not Later Than the First of the Week

New York, May 12. (P)-The full Appalachian coal conference took no action in a two-hour discussion tonight on an agreement reached today by its negotiators to grant the "union shop" to John L. Lewis's union miners, and thus a final settlement of the controversy that has tied up the bituminous mines of 26 states was postponed until tomor-erators and an equal number of representatives of the union -ended without public expression from either side as to the prospects for tomorrow, but a high operators' spokesman said privately that it almost unquestionably would see the signing of a contract.

A union spokesman of equal authority put forward a similar view, with the statement that a general reopening "no" when somebody asked them in Chicago where their show is of the mines by Monday seemed certain.

A Needed Movement

THE NEWS congratulates the Republican tate Central Committee of Allegany county for ts militancy and foresightedness in starting at this time the organization of a series of Repubican district clubs throughout the county.

The movement got off to an admirable start ith the formation of the Sixth District club, the adoption of a fine constitution and the election of officers. The interest manifested at this organization meeting was much more than perfunctory and gives indication of a realization among members of the party that work lies in hand that must be done in a thorough way.

This newspaper, as an exponent of sound Republican principles, believes this work is a patriotic necessity by reason of the deplorable condition in which government has fallen under the so-called New Deal with its assumption of a false and deceptive liberalism that is undermining our fundamental liberties, its ruinous fiscal policies, its wreckage of business and inof this clearly demands a change for the better, and as the Republican party is the only practicable instrumentality by which the change can be made, it behooves the members of that organization to prepare thus well in advance for

The club organization movement is heartily but for the broader necessity of a restoration of the safeguards and ideals embodied in our constitutions, as yet fortunately intact, and for the sake of decency, safety and sanity in government. It deserves whole-hearted interest and support; and it would be a good idea to extend it among the women party members, as they can render valuable aid during campaigns and at the elections, which they are only too ready and willing to give.

Mother's Day

MOTHER'S DAY, the second Sunday in May, has become one of the most widely observed of our popular occasions. Some think it is overly sentimental. Is there any danger of being too sentimental about our mothers, and what we owe them and should do for them? None what- off. ever. They deserve all the attention, all the love and devotion that we can give them.

have feelings of deep regret for the omissions of past, and feel that greater sacrifices could have been made to make the mothers happy.

The young people are full of their plans and fun and ambitions, and they never seem to notice that the mothers are toiling and slaving to give them good times. A mother will go without new clothes and go around looking shabby and old-fashioned, so there can be enough to provide the girl with new finery for some party, or to send the boy to college,

The boys and girls seem to take it for granted that all this care and attention will be offered to them, and they no more render thanks for it than they do for the sunshine of heaven or the fresh air of the summer breezes. They seem to think that young people can spend their lives in pursuit of their own ends, and never give any recognition of all that has been done

It could be wished that many of these youngsters could wake up and realize how all this care is being spent on them, and feel that they ought to reciprocate by giving their mothers pleasure, and making little gifts at every possible opportunity. It would be better for them to stay at home sometimes and do the work, and let mothers go off to good times. Let

In recent months many complaints have been received at club offices from persons who narrowly escaped death or injury because motorists paid too much attention to the traffic signal change and not enough to conditions existing at intersections.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

THE AROMA of sudden success is a heady perfume. Becoming a celebrity in a circle that she had always exalted was enough to turn any woman's head.

Eleanor Parrish, lifted to the heights of success and celebration almost as soon as her prize novel, 'Descendents of Kings," was published, found herself a kind of glamor girl in a brilliant spotlight.

Lauded by the critics, backed by the machine of promotion and publicity, her book took on at once Four weeks from the date of pubcation it was in the best-seller ranks and her name was on the tip of the reading world's tongue.

Privately, she thought the whole thing extravagant in the extreme. The story and the characterizations were no different-or better-than those she had done in her serials. When the critics talked about her "sympathetic insight," she put her tongue in her cheek and kept it there, feeling a trifle contemptu-ous of the poverty of the literary critics that they had to seize on such minor work for such major

Today is Preakness day! (Scoop-in Shanghai, maybe!) The business in hand is to pick the feature winner at Old Hill Top. That's a cinch, too, just like Distract turned out to be yesterday. Johnstown all the way, and I hazard the guess he will be meeting the stragglers in the race when he has pivoted to return to the winner's circle. How can you pick a horse to beat him when he is just after winning the Derby under by the way you can take the Preakness itself which they say Johnstown has in his knapsack . . Which makes knapsacks? me wonder what will happen if one of those ten thousand things that can happen in a horse race turns up in the running of the Preakness today . . . if Johnstewn doesn't win the Preakness there'll be more alibies tomorrow than there are touts in turfdom and so I'll go to Ciencia. Why shouldn't I? . . . Being a man's man I'll take the ladies, and Ciencia is the only gal race called the Santa Anita handicap and it wasn't a race because she walked away from all the boy horses in it.

Then too I'm calling all hands on DECK in the third at Belment. And since I'm going for horses with Spanish names, like Ciencia, I'm giving a splance at Cisneros in the seventh at Belmont.

Jumping down to Churchill Downs we're high on Cape Race in the first, and just in case we're all sick and tired of the day's proceedings by the time the seventh rolis around at the Downs we're taking a treatment with Doc Jock there.

That's more than enough for a day . . . only if they're all good medicine we're waking up with another bucket head in the morning . . . or somthing.

Hamilton Attacks The Roosevelt Administration

Outlines Constructive Program at Republican Rally in W.Va.

Charleston, W. Va., May 12 - Present demoralization of the nation's great bituminous coal industry is directly attributable to New Deal folly, John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asserted here tonight in a blistering arraignment of New Deal Addressing an old-fashioned statewide Republican rally, Mr. Hamilton also denounced other New Deal follies which, he declared, had resulted in ruinous public expenditures, unconscionable ballooning of the public debt, business uncertainty, paralyzing farm prices, the freezing of investible capital, nervous security markets, grievously depressed stock quotations and appalling unemployment.

He followed this up by outlining a constructive program to keep the nation out of war, to revive confidence, bring business recovery and restore the unemployed to jobs in

Replaces Wm. Scott In Auditor's Job Paying $2,700

William Scott, auditor employed by the Allegany county board of commissioners, was dismissed yesterday by the commissioners at their regular meeting, Commissioner Harry W. Matheney revealed

Having prepared a letter to be sent to Scott notifying him of his ouster, the commissioners appointed Walter A. Johnston, former secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to Scott's post. According to Commissioner Matheney, Scott, who has been employed as auditor in the department for several years, was dismissed for 'taking absence without leave"

Other than this, the commissioner had no comment to make this morning on the $2,700 a year job. He was informed of his ap-
